

All Maui, Winners of Carnival Baseball Series

Through the courtesy of the Chinese Athletic Union, sponsors for the All-Chinese baseball team of Honolulu, the All-Maui of Maui have been presented with the handsome Mid-Pacific Carnival trophy, donated to the team winning the series. Officially, the Maui did not win the title, being tied for first place with the All-Chinese team. The local aggregation, though, in appreciation of the sportsmanship of the Valley Isle boys, who came here on their own expense and took a chance on getting back their money in the gate receipts, voted without a dissenting voice that the trophy be given to the Maui.

PLANS CHART SHOWING ATHLETES' BEST YEARS

Coach Jack Mosley, of the Cornell University track and field team, is working on a chart showing the seven ages of the athlete. Mosley has not yet completed his diagrams but is sure that Shakespeare's efforts in a somewhat similar direction will be outclassed when he finished his work. Mosley names baseball, football, track and field athletics for the youth and men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five. From twenty-five to thirty the athlete should begin to drop the more strenuous pastimes for those of less exhausting effort. For men between the ages of thirty and forty the Cornell coach strongly recommends tennis. From forty onward he prescribes golf.

BILL INMAN SAYS HE WILL BE A REGULAR

While the San Francisco fall players were lining up at Boyes Springs last month to prepare for the training season, the war correspondents with the club flashed the news that Bill Inman, the Honolulu recruit, would be among the missing as no transportation had been sent to him and he did not care to wander so far away from his own fire side. The following day Bill surprised everybody by showing up at the ball park with the same uniform he had last year and to the players, Manager Wolverton and the writers, Bill unfolded a tale. "Didn't think I'd show up, huh, said Bill. Well I'm here and paid my own way, and furthermore, I'm going to be a regular on this ball team." All of which pleased Manager Wolverton and he afterwards said that Inman would be given every chance in the world to land a job.

BILL JAMES JOINS BASEBALL HOLDOUTS

"Big Bill" James, who helped to pitch the Boston Nationals to the world's baseball championship last year, announced at San Francisco last week that he had no intention of joining the Boston club this year unless he is granted an increase in salary of $2000 a year. James, who was on his way to Los Angeles, told his friends here that he felt that he was entitled to more than the $4000 annually which his three-year contract with the Braves calls for, notwithstanding that in addition to the $2800 he received last year as his share of a world's series money, he also received a $1000 bonus.

THE FORTY YEAR TEST.

An article must have exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown on favor and popularity, until it has attained a world wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy not only gives relief, it cures. BILL LYLE WILL HANDLE OARSMEN

Is Also Elected Commodore of Honolulu Yacht Club and Busy Season is Before Members

Members of the Honolulu Yacht Club held their annual meeting last Friday evening at the residence of M. L. Foster, and after the transaction of much business and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: William Lyle, commodore; Sunny Hart, vice-commodore; Jack Radway, treasurer; Morris Foster, secretary; William O'Brien, port captain; Bert Cooper, auditor; Morris Foster, chairman; Edward Stacker, ex Perkins, Herman Grauberg and Roy Woodward, regatta committee. The secretary reported that the two barges purchased from the Puunene Boat Club of Maui had arrived safely and were now in use at the headquarters of the Honolulu Yacht Club at the peninsula. A new shed had been built for the storing of the barges. Two new members, J. L. Dwi ht and G. L. Townsend, were elected. Arrangements were completed during the meeting for the giving of a supper in the new addition to the clubhouse at the time of the installation of the officers. Arrangements were also made for the opening of the season April 3, at which time a dance will be given. Messrs. Baldwin, Hart and Stacker were appointed a committee of three to handle the affair. Interest is keen among the members of the club and the coming season promises to be a banner one with the Honolulu Yacht Club. A tentative program of yacht races was drawn, and, under the direction of Commodore Lyle, crews will be trained to compete in the September regatta.

NEARLY A MILLION ATTENDED FOOTBALL

The final match for the professional association football championship of England, popularly known as the cup tie match, will not be played in London this spring, but in one of the provincial cities. Professional association football is the game of the British masses, like professional baseball in the United States. The game to decide which team shall hold the English cup is even more important than the English Scottish championship. It is usually held on the Crystal Palace field, and draws a crowd, in normal times, of about 150,000 persons, of whom perhaps a third are unable to get a sight of the field and leave the grounds. While it is doubtful if these attendance figures will be reached this spring, the final match will not lack patronage. Notwithstanding the war $18,000 spectators paid $126,565 to witness the fortnight matches in the first two rounds of the cup ties. This is roughly fifty per cent of last season's attendance at the same stage for the gate receipts at that time amounted to $221,500.

Billy Fennell escorted Lau Chong all the way from Kahuia. Lau is alleged to have been trafficking in beer without having first gone through the formality of obtaining a license to do so.

RESTA ALSO WINS FIRST PLACE FOR VANDERBILT CUP

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire.)—Domingo Resta of Italy, driving the same car, a Peugeot, in which he won the Grand Prix automobile race at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, yesterday finished first in the Vanderbilt Cup race, covering the distance of 293 and a fraction miles in 4:27:37. Resta, showing rare driving ability, took an early lead and at the finish of the first half led by a safe margin, with Ruskell second, Bob Burham third, Pullen fourth and Carlson fifth. During the early stages of the race a tire broke loose from an Edwards Special, driven by Tom Kennedy, injuring a spectator. After finishing the first half of the race and starting into the next lap, the machine being driven by Bob Burham capsized, and Burham and his mechanic, Joe Cleary, were taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition. Later it was found that Cleary had received internal injuries, as well as a broken thigh. Burham's injuries were slight, barring a general shake-up. At the finish, Resta crossed the line far in advance of Wilcox, driving a Stutz; Eddie Pullen, a Mercer, was third; Ralph De Palma, in a Mercedes, was fourth, and Carlson, in a Harroun Special, was fifth.

JOHNSON AND WILLARD ARE WISHED ON HAVANA

EL PASO, Texas, March 7.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire.)—Jack Curley, promoter of the Jack Johnson and Jesse Willard bout, last night announced that the two heavyweights would meet in Havana, Cuba, the first week in April.

Contractor Marshall is expected back from the mainland this month, and he is reported to be sanguine that the work on the extension of the Hilo breakwater will soon be underway.

DUKE P. IS SMASHER OF ANOTHER RECORD

During the Melbourne swimming club carnival, held at Melbourne, Australia, Saturday afternoon, February 13, Duke P. Kahanamoku finished first, George Cunha second, and M. Hay, New South Wales club, third in the 100-yards sprint. Time, 0:56. In the 100-meter race, Kahanamoku and M. Hay swam a dead heat, covering the distance in 1:01 2-5, establishing a new world's record for the distance.

FOR CO-OPERATIVE FARMING ON MAUI

A plan of co-operative farming is soon to be actively undertaken in the Kula homestead district on Maui, to raise pineapples on a co-operative basis as far as the planting and cultivating is concerned. The organization will undertake to do all the work, from plowing to marketing, and the members will be charged their pro rata of the cost. W. I. Wells, one of the leading homesteaders, has been appointed manager and will devote his entire time to the work. It is the belief of those interested in the enterprise that a large saving in teams and equipment can thus be effected over what would be possible through individual effort. The association is actively backing up the bill now before the legislature which provides for legally chartering co-operative associations, along lines now in force in many of the mainland states. If this bill becomes law the association believes that it will be enabled to safeguard its interests in such manner that its success will be practically assured.

STOCKTON TONG WAR HAS ANOTHER VICTIM

(Associated Press by Federal Wire.) STOCKTON, California, March 8.—A member of the Seng Sing tong was shot and killed yesterday in his store by two gun men of a rival tong. One of the gun men was captured, the other successfully eluding the immediate pursuit of the police.

CECIL BROWN IS STRICKEN AGAIN

Following the third stroke of paralysis suffered in the last six months, Cecil Brown, president of the First National Bank, former territorial senator and largely interested in many business enterprises in the island, is lying in a precarious condition at his home in Leahi street near Kapiolani Park. Reports from the bedside last night were that Mr. Brown is rallying, with good chances for recovery. Dr. George R. Herbert, is the attending physician. William Dickson, step-son of Mr. Brown, has arrived from Lanai to be with his father. The last stroke came Thursday afternoon while Mr. Brown was at ease in his home and came unexpectedly. It affected the entire right side and Mr. Brown remained unconscious until in the early hours of Friday. Since that time he has rallied slowly. About four months ago, while visiting in San Francisco, Mr. Brown suffered a severe stroke but seemingly had recovered from the attack. Two months previous to that time he suffered a slight attack while visiting with his son on Lanai. The last stroke was the most severe of the three.

HOLBRON'S ARREST STARTS SOMETHING

The case of R. Holbron Jr., who last week was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for a statutory offense, has most unexpectedly developed into something of the nature of an endless chain. Mrs. Holbron started the ball rolling by having her husband arrested for alleged misconduct with one Annie K. Kauhine, the latter being also gathered in. Then Holbron himself got busy and had his wife, Esther Apolo Holbron, and a man named Joe Terry arrested on a statutory charge. Meanwhile Annie K. Kauhine had not been idle. She asked for warrants for the arrest of her husband, Kahalo Kauhine, and Mary Jones, the latter a Laie woman. The United States marshal's office is now patiently waiting for Mary Jones to show her hand. And that's the kind of a hornet's nest that was kicked over when Bob Holbron Jr. was locked up on the first of March. There's a regular family party over in the old jail.

MISS TEUIRA HENRY DIES IN PAPEETE

Miss Teuira Henry, aged 68, died on January 28 at Papeete, Tahiti, a few weeks after sustaining injuries in a fall. Miss Henry was born in Tahiti and spent about sixteen years in Honolulu, having been for the greater part of that period a teacher in the Royal school. She had many relatives here and a wide circle of friends who will be grieved to learn of her death. For years Miss Henry labored on what was acknowledged to be a valuable work on the Society Islands, much of the material having been obtained from her ancestors, Reverend William Henry and Reverend Mr. Osborne, both of whom were pioneer missionaries in the South Seas. She possessed a most cheerful disposition and was highly cultured, having spoken and written French and Tahitian with ease. It is not known what arrangements, if any, will be made by the next relatives of the late Miss Henry toward having her work published, but it is to be hoped that the world will not lose so interesting and valuable a book.

MYERS COMMANDS MARINES AT EXPOSITION

The March number of the Army and Navy News, published in San Francisco, says the following of an army officer well remembered in Honolulu, having been stationed here for some time: "A battalion of marines, numbering 300 men, accompanied by a band and commanded by Maj. John T. Myers, has encamped on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco, where it will remain during the exposition. Besides being an exhibit of the United States Marine Corps, it will be used as a guard of honor for distinguished ceremonies. Major Myers commanded the legion guard of marines in Peking in 1900, when the American legation was besieged by the Boxers, and was brevetted for gallantry during the siege."

The Y. M. C. A. has secured Attorney A. B. Larnach to give a course of ten lectures on "Business Law." Mr. Larnach will deal with the fundamental principles of contracts, commercial paper, property, sales and agency, and there will be opportunity at each of the lectures for discussion and questions. Business law is a subject which men in business find both interesting and practical. The lectures will be given on Wednesday evenings and commence this week.

Londons Lease Scott Cottage On Beach Walk

JACK LONDON

Famous Writer Will Devote Next Three Months To Literary Labors at Waikiki

(From Monday Advertiser.)

JACK LONDON, accompanied by Mrs. London, returned from Hilo yesterday morning, where they visited the volcano and other points of interest. Mr. and Mrs. London are now located at the beach, having made arrangements for the use of the O. C. Scott cottage, at 216 Beach walk, for the next three months. London's mornings will be devoted to literary work and callers will be received after two o'clock. The author was entertained at a luncheon yesterday at the Outrigger club by Alexander Hume Ford of the outdoor promotion committee. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. London; Miss Beth Wiley, cousin of Mrs. London; S. H. Tuttle, president of the Outrigger club; Fred Gobers, representative of the New South Wales tourist bureau; Harry L. Strange, outdoor promotion committee, and R. J. Baker, artist. After luncheon members of the party donned their bathing suits and spent a few hours in the surf at Waikiki. Retiring from the beach, machines were in readiness, and the remainder of the afternoon was occupied in driving through the city.

Meets John Bell Wilson. "Speaking of surprises," said London last evening, "I think that I had one this morning that I will never forget. A few years before the discovery of gold in California, Captain Sutter, on his journey overland, arrived at Port Vancouver on the Columbia River. Instead of going to California around he came by trading vessel to Hawaii, and became well acquainted with King Kamehameha, ruling at that time. When he sailed to San Francisco in another trading vessel, King Kamehameha presented him with four Hawaiian coins upon arrival in San Francisco they founded a small settlement. I was very much interested in these persons and instituted a search to locate them. With the aid of the California annuals I was able to trace them as late as 1848. At the time of the rush for gold in California, these Hawaiians disappeared and there was no mention of them in the later history of California.

Locates Lost Settlement. In 1912 I heard of an Hawaiian settlement at the junction of the Sacramento and Feather rivers, which had been established many years, the members having intermarried with Indians. I located them and learned that the village had existed since 1649, and that the older members of the tribe had crossed the water with Captain Sutter years before. These had been added to from time to time by other Hawaiians who had come over on whaling ships and trading vessels. Their chief and leader at this time was John Bell Wilson, who sailed from the Islands thirty-eight years ago. Imagine my surprise when Mr. Wilson came over late this morning and took me by the hand. I was certainly happy to see him and a talk consisting of a few hours seemed like as many minutes. Mr. Wilson said that he felt more like a mahini than he did an old resident.

Volcano Gorgeous Sight

Speaking of his visit to Hawaii, Mr. London said that this was the first time he had ever seen the volcano in action, and to him it was one of the most beautiful and gorgeously sights he had ever witnessed. He said: "The manner in which the roads and hotels have been improved is most astounding, and this will attract many tourists who otherwise would hesitate in making the trip. I had the extreme pleasure of riding on the railroad at Hilo, and to me this is a most wonderful undertaking, most wonderfully carried out." Mr. London had intended making the trip with the fleet through the Panama Canal, and Mrs. London had planned to come to Honolulu to spend a few weeks with her cousin, Miss Beth Wiley of Berkeley. When the tour of the fleet was postponed Mr. London made hasty preparations and accompanied Mrs. London to Hawaii. "I have always been crazy to return to Honolulu, and it certainly seems mighty good to be back. We will spend most of our time on the beach, and I will not be satisfied until I acquire a good, dark tan." Mr. and Mrs. London were the center of attraction on the beach yesterday, and many cameras were focused on them at all times of the afternoon.

Superintendent Forbes of the public works department has written the Hilo board of trade explaining matters concerning the Waialua tract which is to be reclaimed, drained and graded properly.

FORMER HONOLULAN MURDERED IN TEXAS

That Morris Rosenberg, well known here and a brother of Jacob Rosenberg of this city, has been murdered near El Paso is the news just received from San Francisco. The news is reported by Associated Press as follows: "EL PASO, Texas, February 23.—Maurice Rosenberg, formerly of Oakland, California, and a wholesale junk and hide dealer on the border, was found dead in an irrigation ditch below the ancient Indian village of Yaleta, twelve miles from here, last night. Missing since last Thursday, Rosenberg's family has been making a search for him on both sides of the river. "The merchant left his big store at five o'clock Thursday afternoon to inspect a shipment of hides from Mexico. That was the last seen of him alive. When his body was uncovered by Mexican workmen, who were cleaning the ditch, his face and head were beaten in as if with a club and all of his money, his watch and diamonds were missing. "A man was seen to drive away from the scene of the crime a short time afterward and wash his hands in the irrigation ditch, telling one of the workmen that he had cut his hand, which was covered with blood. "Rosenberg came here from Oakland last year with his young wife and engaged in his business along the Mexican border. "Deceased came to Honolulu in 1905 and remained less than a year. While here he engaged in the junk business with his brother. On returning to San Francisco he opened a sawtooth establishment. "Another Morris Rosenberg, a cousin of the murdered man and Jacob Rosenberg, at one time operated the Red Front sailors' outfitting store, at the corner of Queen and Nuuanu streets. "Jacob Rosenberg stated yesterday that another brother, Leodore Rosenberg, a prominent Los Angeles business man, had gone to El Paso to get his brother's remains and take them to San Francisco, where they will be interred in the family burying ground."
